DISTRICT CONVENTION PROVES BIG FEATURE

Sunday School Enthusiasts Assemble at Local Church

DR. CAMERON SPEAKS

Tells of Need of Sympathy With Foreigners--Officers Elected and Installed

Second only to the big county convention here last June, the Charleroi district annual Sunday School convention was held Sunday afternoon and evening at the Methodist Episcopal church. As people had come in hundreds to attend the county function, so they came in scores to be present at the district event. With speechmaking by experts in Sunday School work and with music by a big choir they were entertained. The climax came at night when Dr. H. N. Cameron, of Washington, a Methodist Episcopal minister made an address. His subject was "The Sunday School Our Neighbor."

Dr. Cameron's address related to the foreign people populating this continent. That every foreigner who comes to the American shore, whether from the sunny slopes of Italy or rugged hills of Prussia or from the broad steppes of Russia, is a neighbor and as such is to be treated with kindness and is to be sympathized with regardless of his nationality or his apparent lack of culture, was the sense of his talk. The Sunday School is the instrument by which his friendship and love is to be cultivated, he said.

In the afternoon six addresses were made. This session was in the interest of the effort among the children as well as in the interest of the Sunday School work generally. Mrs. C. C. Wright spoke on "The Power of Christian Influence"; Rev. J. T. Hackett on "Normal Work"; Dr. C. C. Wright on "The Temperance Outlook"; Miss Frances Cooper the county elementary superintendent on "The Bible"; Mrs. Mary L. Stewart, county field secretary on "The Sabbath School for the Child"; and Dr. F. C. Stahlman, on "Advanced Division Work." Miss Fellicia Bosson recited "Mizpah" as a closing number. Rev. C. P. Bastian, pastor of Christ Lutheran church conducted the opening devotional service.

Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church conducted the evening devotional services. J. D. Barryman, vice president of the district, gave a review of the accomplishments of the district organization during the last year and Mrs. Mary L. Stewart told of experiences at the State Sunday School convention held recently at Philadelphia.

One thing she told that was new to a great many of the Sunday School enthusiasts was of the awarding of the State Organized Adult Bible class banner to Fayette county. Washington county was second in this departmental work. A report of the receipts and expense of the district during the year was read by the secretary-treasurer, Miss Matilda Hopkins. Expenses are united to $999.51 for the county convention, and there was a balance in the treasury of $83.81. A resolution was of-

Will Prevent Trespassing

Farmers in Vicinity of Charleroi Getting in Stock of Proper Kind of Signs

Farmers are stocking up on trespass signs in anticipation of the onslaughts of hunters to begin on November 1. Few farms are there in this vicinity which has not been properly posted according to law to keep off trespassers. Some kinds of game are said to be plentiful, but not so very plentiful that farms will welcome destruction of their land in order to get rid of it. Rabbits are said to be very numerous. Many hunters are planning to strike out into other counties the first day of the open season.

Offered by John Rodgers of Rallowfield township, and adopted by the convention urging the enlargement of the constitution of the county association.

Officers were elected and they were installed by Rev. J. H. Hackett as follows: President, W. S. James; vice president, T. J. Allen; secretary-treasurer, Miss Matilda Hopkins; superintendent teacher training, Rev. John R. Burson; superintendent temperance work, Dr. C. C. Wright; superintendent home department, Miss Lulu Benzell; superintendent elementary department, Mrs. C. C. Wright; superintendent Adult Bible class work, W. E. McCall; superintendent secondary division, Dr. F. C. Stahlman; superintendent foreign work, Rev. C. C. Wright; superintendent mission work, Mrs. C. P. Bastian. Mr. James offered his resignation immediately upon his election as president. It will be considered by the county association.

Music was one of the predominating features of the convention. Four anthems with organ and orchestral accompaniment were sung by a chorus choir consisting of the members of the Methodist Episcopal choir and a few well known singers who are members of other choirs. August H. Bosson was the director. In the afternoon, Gounod's "Oh Sing to God," and Schall's "Hark, Hark, My Soul," were sung. In the evening Gounod's "Sanctus" and Haydn's "The Heavens are Telling," were the renditions. All were well handled. Soloists were Miss Mary Glunt, Miss Price Frye, Mrs. L. T. Daniel, and Warren Kinder. At the close of the final number came a surprise which had been arranged by Mr. Bosson. As the last strains of Haydn's fine melody died away the organist softly sounded the exquisite chords of the beloved national song, "America." A large flag rolled down in front of the choir. Spontaneously everybody arose as the familiar words of the anthem welled forth. With its conclusion Rev. F. A. Richards pronounced the "Amen" that brought the convention to a close.

BALLOT STANDS AS AT FIRST ARRANGED

Dauphin County Court Hands Down Decision in Eleventh Hour Case Instituted by Democratic State Chairman

According to a decision by Judge Kunkle, of the Dauphin county court, the size and arrangement of the official ballot to be used at the election November 5 stands. An effort was made by State Chairman Guthrie of the Democratic party to have two of the tickets of electors on the ballot removed. These were the Bull Moose and the Roosevelt Progressive. Both of these tickets contain Roosevelt presidential electors and the Republican state candidates, in addition to the Washington ticket, which is the acknowledged official ballot for the Roosevelt adherents.

Chairman Guthrie contended that the law prohibits the names of the same electors from appearing on the official ballot more than once and sought to have the court issue a mandamus prohibiting the various counties from printing the Bull Moose and the Progressive tickets on the official ballot. This Judge Kunkle refused, giving his decision late Saturday, and the ticket as first certified to stands. As the ballots were in the hands of the printers in most counties, the change would have been expensive.

It is expected that both the Roosevelt and Republican tickets will profit by the presence of these two tickets on the official ballots. The Roosevelt electors will catch many of the strays, which also contain the names of the Republican state candidates. As they do not contain the names of any congressional or legislative candidates, their presence will be beneficial to the Republican candidates in those counties of which Washington is one, that have put up Roosevelt candidates in opposition to the Republicans for congress and the legislature. Those who vote either the Bull Moose or the Roosevelt Progressive ticket in their desire to support the Colonel will not vote for any other candidates except the State and the Progressive tickets on the official ballot. This Judge Kunkle refused, giving his decision late Saturday, and the ticket as first certified to stands. As the ballots were

MUMS ON DISPLAY NOW AT SCHENLEY

Chrysanthemum Show Arranged by Pittsburg Superintendent of Parks

The formal opening of the display of fall flowers and chrysanthemums in the Phipps Conservatory at Schenley Park took place Sunday. The blossoms this year are much more varied than last year and Superintendent Burke expects that all records will be broken, both for the number of visitors and for the quantity and size of the blooms.

One of the more prominent of the chrysanthemums this year is the Miss George W. Burke, a mammoth bronze flower having a diameter of about nine inches. This chrysanthemum was grown in New Jersey and is put on exhibition here for the first time. It was named in honor of the wife of the superintendent of Pittsburg parks. Among others are the Nellie Parker, a large white mum; Beatrice Maw, white; Mrs. M. Wells, bronze; Winifred, bronze; W. Mease, mixture of light purple and red; President Taft and William Jennings Bryan. These range from five to nine inches in diameter. An amusing incident was called to the attention of Superintendent Burke when it was noticed that the President Taft bloom, a large white one was so pleased that it was in front of the William Jennings Bryan, a white but not of the same size as the former. Superintendent Burke declared there was no significance attached to the placing of the flowers in this manner.

The display of chrysanthemums will not be the only attraction at the conservatory this fall. Upon entering the palm house, where the palms rise to heights of from eight to 40 feet, there may be seen the sugar, cabbage, fan and banana palms. From the latter the material used in the manufacture of panama hats is secured. This is the finest specimen of the panama tree in America. Another interesting plant is the Travelers Tree from Madagascar. This tree grows in desert places and the leaves are so arranged that they retain water for an indefinite period. The traveler desiring water taps the limbs and in this manner secures the fluid.

In the Victoria and Nympha houses may be seen royal water lilies from the Amazon, sycamore tree of the Bible, allspice and mango trees and many tropical plants. That the royal water lilies are blooming at this time of the year is said to be very unusual. In the next house, will be found a plant called Job's tears, the fruit of which is used in making beads for children's necklaces.

In the cactus house may be seen the

They must not destroy, deface or damage property, public or private. Malicious mischief will not be tolerated. Anyone caught chalking or soaping windows or mutilating porches, particularly preceding Halloween will be dealt with. All persons engaged in Halloween observance must comply with these regulations.

Meeting of Republican Clans to be Held in Bank Hall

DETAILS ARE ARRANGED

Executive Committee Gets Matters in Shape--Christy Refers to Acheson

To complete arrangements for the big rally to take place here Wednesday night, Republican clans will get together in a final meeting Tuesday night in the Bank of Charleroi hall. At this assembling the final matters in regard to parade and other matters will have attention and will be explained to the Republican voters generally. The details in regard to parade, speakers, bands and so forth will be attended to.

The executive committee has everything in good shape for the rally. Every day new information comes to hand that is convincing the affair will be an unusually big event. A letter has been received from a West Newton precinct chairman by Charles O. Frye, chief marshal of the parade to the effect that he is too old to come, but will see to it that he is represented. From all points come assurances of the interest in the local demonstration.

Who will speak in addition to Gov. J. K. Tener, Adjutant General T. J. Stewart and Senator Crow has not yet been made known. Former Congressman J. Adam Rede, it is stated will be unable to be present. If the rally had been held during the day time he could have come, but as he has an engagement to speak elsewhere in the evening. He has expressed his sincere regrets.

The sentiment for the Republican candidates is declared to still be gaining in Washington county. Walter Christy the Gazette Times political editor who has been touring the state to get a line on the situation generally reports after a visit to this county that Taft is strong, as well as the Congressional and legislative tickets.

"The movement to deliver the county to Wilson by securing voters for Roosevelt is captained by Ernest F. Acheson, former boss and former congressman," says Mr. Christy. "From a retreat 13 miles out in the county the old politician is planning the campaign against the Republican party and the open moves are being made by a bunch of former Republican office holders, who are attempting to break down the present Republican organization in the hope that they can again connect with the payroll. Acheson is pretending to have nothing to do with politics and has been in Washington only once in the last five or six months and that trip was presumably made for the usual purpose on his part of having his hair cut.

"Appearing in the open for Acheson are the following men who have fared well at the hands of the Republican party in Washington county; J. Verner Clark, former sheriff and legislator; Owen Underwood, former district attorney; C. L. V. Acheson, former district attorney; F. B. H.

Charleroi High School Carries Ball Across Waynesburg Line Three Times

PLAYS REAL FOOTBALL

Playing real football, and of the kind that it would take a better team than was born and reared in Waynesburg to surpass, the Charleroi High School team won from Waynesburg High School Saturday afternoon 18 to 0. Worse games might have been seen at Princeton or Harvard or Yale. Individuals who were in the performance more than up to their ears would be difficult to pick, but it is thought they all were. The Charleroi back field worked like a piece of well oiled machinery; the line the same.

It didn't take long for both teams to discover the destiny of the game. It was a Charleroi victory pure and simple from the outset. Charleroi grabbed the ball on the ten-yard line from the struggling Waynesburgers, who had received on the kickoff. Stahlman made an end run that netted several yards. Lowstutter circled the other side of the line. Speers was sent through the line on a plunge. He didn't quite make the chalk and Stahlman was given the ball to take over for the first touchdown. Capt. Campbell failed to kick goal.

From the other end of the field in the second quarter Henry Lowstutter was the valiant that carried the bulb past the chalk line. With a beauty of a run, all the while warding off tacklers he took the ball down the field 14 yards to 20 yards. Speers was entrusted with the precious bulb long enough to make a big gain through a ragged hole in the center of the line. As was eminently fitting after his brilliant work, Lowstutter was given the privilege of a try at a touchdown and made it. Stahlman made the final touchdown, after an inspiring run. Charleroi was unable to get the ball over the wire on a kick for goal, but they didn't have to. The only time Waynesburg had much chance to score was in the second half. They were finally held at the north end of the field by a stonewall defense, until it was necessary to kick. A drop was tried but it failed to go over the bar. Lineup:

Passing of the Spare Room.

Fifty years ago nearly every house in New York City had one or more spare chambers. Today half her inhabitants rise at an unusual hour, to admit their beds to be turned into prior furniture or piano fortes. If Susan Mary or Cousin John realized this all, of course, no one who has it lived in a great city can really realize it, they would understand better just why they had not been invited to visit Tom's folks. It is not because Tom and his wife wish to fight Mary and her husband that they have not invited them to visit in the city, but because possibly the city cousins have not enough spare room in their tiny apartment or even so much as a canary bird. On the other hand, John and his wife probably have a great twelve-room house in the country, a house whose "ch-string" is known to be always ringing out.—Woman's Home Companion.

DISTRICT CONVENTION PROVES BIG FEATURE

Sunday School Enthusiasts Assemble at Local Church

Second only to the big county convention here last June, the Charleroi district annual Sunday School convention was held Sunday afternoon and evening at the Methodist Episcopal church. As people had come in hundreds to attend the county function, so they came in scores to be present at the district event. With speechmaking by experts in Sunday School work and with music by a big choir they were entertained. The climax came at night when Dr. H. N. Cameron, of Washington, a Methodist Episcopal minister made an address. His subject was "The Sunday School 'Our Neighbor'."

Dr. Cameron's address related to the foreign people populating this continent. That every foreigner who comes to the American shore, whether from the sunny slopes of Italy or rugged hills of Prussia or from the broad steppes of Russia, is a neighbor and as such is to be treated with kindness and is to be sympathized with regardless of his nationality or his apparent lack of culture, was the sense of his talk. The Sunday School is the instrument by which his friendship and love is to be cultivated, he said.

In the afternoon six addresses were made. This session was in the interest of the effort among the children as well as in the interest of the Sunday School work generally. Mrs. C. C. Wright spoke on "The Power of Christian Influence"; Rev. J. T. Hackett on "Normal Work"; Dr. C. C. Wright on "The Temperance Outlook"; Miss Frances Cooper the county elementary superintendent on "The Bible"; Mrs. Mary L. Stewart, county field secretary on "The Sabbath School for the Child"; and Dr. F. C. Stahlman, on "Advanced Division Work." Miss Felicie Bosson recited "Mirrah" as a closing number. Rev. C. P. Bastian, pastor of Christ Lutheran church conducted the opening devotional service.

Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church conducted the evening devotional services. J. D. Barryman, vice president of the district gave a review of the accomplishments of the district organization during the last year and Mrs. Mary L. Stewart told of experiences at the State Sunday School convention held recently at Philadelphia.

One thing she told that was new to a great many of the Sunday School enthusiasts was of the awarding of the State Organized Adult Bible class banner to Fayette county. Washington county was second in this departmental work. A report of the receipts and expenses of the district during the year was read by the secretary-treasurer, Miss Matilda Hopkins. Expenses amounted to $999.51 for the county convention, and there was a balance in the treasury of $38.21. A resolution was of Farmers are stocking up on trespass signs in anticipation of the onslaught of hunters to begin on November 1. Few farms are there in this vicinity which has not been properly posted according to law to keep off trespassers. Some kinds of game are said to be plentiful, but not so very plentiful that farms will welcome destruction of their land in order to get rid of it. Rabbits are said to be very numerous. Many hunters are planning to strike out into other counties the first day of the open season.

Offered by John Rodgers of Fallowfield township, and adopted by the convention urging the enlargement of the constitution of the county association.

Officers were elected and they were installed by Rev. J. M. Hackett as follows: President, W. S. James; vice president, T. J. Allen; secretary-treasurer, Miss Matilda Hopkins; superintendent teacher training, Rev. John R. Burson; superintendent temperance work, Dr. C. C. Wright; superintendent home department, Miss Lulu Beazell; superintendent elementary department, Mrs. C. C. Wright; superintendent Adult Bible class work, W. E. McCall; superintendent secondary division, Dr. F. C. Stahlman; superintendent foreign work, Rev. J. T. Hackett; superintendent mission work, Mrs. C. P. Bastian. Mr. James offered his resignation immediately upon his election as president. It will be considered by the county association.

Music was one of the predominant features of the convention. Four anthems with organ and orchestral accompaniment were sung by a chorus choir consisting of the members of the Methodist Episcopal church and a few well known singers who are members of other choirs. August H. Bosson was the director. In the afternoon, Gounod's "Oh Sing to God," and Schell's "Hark, Hark, My Soul," were sung. In the evening Gounod's "Sanctus" and Haydn's "The Heavens are Telling" were the renditions. All were well handled. Soloists were Miss Mary Hunt, Miss Price Frye, Mrs. I. T. Daniel, and Warren Kinder. At the close of the final number came a surprise which had been arranged by Mr. Bosson. As the last strains of Haydn's fine melody died away the organist softly sounded the exquisite chords of the beloved national song, "America." A large flag rolled down in front of the choir. Spontaneously everybody arose as the familiar words of the anthem welled forth. With its conclusion Rev. F. A. Richards pronounced the "Amen" that brought the convention to a close.

BALLOT STANDS AS AT FIRST ARRANGED

Dauphin County Court Hands Down Decision in Eleventh Hour Case Instituted by Democratic State Chairman

According to a decision by Judge Kunkle, of the Dauphin county court, the size and arrangement of the official ballot to be used at the election November 5 stands. An effort was made by State Chairman Guthrie of the Democratic party to have two of the tickets of electors on the ballot removed. These were the Bull Moose and the Roosevelt Progressive. Both of these tickets contain Roosevelt presidential electors and the Republican state candidates, in addition to the Washington ticket, which is the acknowledged official ballot for the Roosevelt adherents.

Chairman Guthrie contended that the law prohibits the names of the same electors from appearing on the official ballot more than once and sought to have the court issue a mandamus prohibiting the various counties from printing the Bull Moose and the Progressive tickets on the official ballot. This Judge Kunkle refused, giving his decision late Saturday, and the ticket as first certified to stands. As the ballots were in the hands of the printers in most counties, the change would have been expensive.

It is expected that both the Roosevelt and Republican tickets will profit by the presence of these two tickets on the official ballots. The Roosevelt electors will catch many of the stray votes, which also contain the names of the Republican state candidates. As they do not contain the names of any congressional or legislative candidates, their presence will be beneficial to the Republican candidates in those counties of which Washington is one, that have put up Roosevelt candidates in opposition to the Republicans for congress and the legislature. Those who vote either the Bull Moose or the Roosevelt Progressive ticket in their desire to support the Colonel will not vote for any other candidates except the State and Republican candidates. In the most of the counties throughout the state the Washington party has endorsed the Republican candidates for congress and the legislature.

MUMS ON DISPLAY NOW AT SCHENLEY

Chrysanthemum Show Arranged by Pittsburg Superintendent of Parks

The formal opening of the display of fall flowers and chrysanthemums in the Phelps Conservatory at Schenley Park took place Sunday. The blossoms this year are much more varied than last year and Superintendent Burke expects that all records will be broken, both for the number of visitors and for the quantity and size of the blooms.

One of the more prominent of the chrysanthemums this year is the Mrs. George W. Burke, a mammoth bronze flower having a diameter of about nine inches. This chrysanthemum was grown in New Jersey and is put on exhibition here for the first time. It was named in honor of the wife of the superintendent of Pittsburg parks. Among others are the Nellie Parker, a large white mum; Beatrice Maw, white; Mrs. M. Wells, bronze; Winifred, bronze; W. Mease, mixture of light purple and red; President Taft and William Jennings Bryan. These range from five to nine inches in diameter. An amusing incident was called to the attention of Superintendent Burke when it was noticed that the President Taft bloom, a large white one was so pleased that it was in front of the William Jennings Bryan, a white but not of the same size as the former. Superintendent Burke declared there was no significance attached to the placing of the flowers in this manner.

The display of chrysanthemums will not be the only attraction at the conservatory this fall. Upon entering the palm house, where the palms rise to heights of from eight to 40 feet, there may be seen the sugar, cabbage, fan and panama palms. From the latter the material used in the manufacture of panama hats is secured. This is the finest specimen of the panama tree in America. Another interesting plant is the Travelers Tree from Madagascar. This tree grows in desert places and the leaves are so arranged that they retain water for an indefinite period. The traveler desiring water taps the limbs and in this manner secures the fluid.

In the Victoria and Nymphaea houses may be seen royal water lilies from the Amazon, sycamore tree of the Bible, allspice and mango trees and many tropical plants. That the royal water lilies are blooming at this time of the year is said to be will be found a plant called Job's tears, the fruit of which is used in making beads for children's necklaces.

TO MAKE FINAL PLANS FOR RALLY TOMORROW

Class of 60 Takes Degree

Knights of Columbus Ritual Gone Through by Charleroi Council

A class of 60 candidates received the second degree in the Knights of Columbus ritual Sunday afternoon here. The degree was conferred by Grand Knight M. T. Crowley. Of the class there were members from Charleroi, Donora, Fayette City and Roscoe. About 100 visitors were present. Thomas Kane, of Pittsburg and D. J. Murphy of Uniontown assisted in the rites. Monongahela and Monessen councils were well represented by visiting members.

Next Sunday the third degree is to be exemplified in Charleroi. State officers will be present, including hundreds of visitors. A banquet will be served for 600 in the evening.

Meeting of Republican Clans to be Held in Bank Hall

DETAILS ARE ARRANGED

Executive Committee Gets Matters in Shape—Christy Refers to Acheson

To complete arrangements for the big rally to take place here Wednesday night, Republican clans will get together in a final meeting Tuesday night in the Bank of Charleroi hall. At this assembling the final matters in regard to parade and other matters will have attention and will be explained to the Republican voters generally. The details in regard to parade, speakers, bands and so forth will be attended to.

The executive committee has everything in good shape for the rally. Every day new information comes to hand that is convincing the affair will be an unusually big event. A letter has been received from a West Newton precinct chairman by Charles O. Frye, chief marshal of the parade to the effect that he is too old to come, but will see to it that he is represented. From all points come assurances of the interest in the local demonstration.

Who will speak in addition to Gov. J. K. Tener, Adjutant General T. J. Stewart and Senator Crow has not yet been made known. Former Congressman J. Adam Rede, it is stated will be unable to be present. If the rally had been held during the day time he could have come, but as he has an engagement to speak elsewhere in the evening. He has expressed his sincere regrets.

The sentiment for the Republican candidates is declared to still be gaining in Washington county. Walter Christy the Gazette Times political editor who has been touring the state to get a line on the situation generally reports after a visit to this county that Taft is strong, as well as the Congressional and legislative tickets.

"The movement to deliver the county to Wilson by securing voters for Roosevelt is captained by Ernest F. Acheson, former boss and former congressman," says Mr. Christy. "From a retreat 13 miles out in the county the old politician is planning the campaign against the Republican party and the open moves are being made by a bunch of former Republican office holders, who are attempting to break down the present Republican organization in the hope that they can again connect with the payroll. Acheson is pretending to have nothing to do with politics and has been in Washington only once in the last five or six months and that trip was presumably made for the usual purpose on his part of having his hair cut."

"Appearing in the open for Acheson are the following men who have fared well at the hands of the Republican party in Washington county; J. Verner Clark, former sheriff and legislator; Owen Underwood, former district attorney; C. L. V. Acheson, former district attorney; T. B. H.

ZINC SMELTING

Not a Modern Art, Since It Was Known to Be Early as 1700.

For many years the art of zinc smelting was considered a relatively modern among metallurgical processes and to be due to the invention of the Abbe Daniel Dony, a chemist of Liege, the story of its actual discovery in 1805 is class.

The particular type of Belgian furnace may indeed be credited to Dony, but it has long been doubtful whether he was entirely unacquainted with previous undertakings. Thus it is well known that the manufacture of spelter was begun in Upper Silesia about 1705-1800 by Johann Rubberg, who learned the art in England (where zinc smelting was then being carried on by the English process of distillation downward) and Bergrath Dillinger began zinc smelting in Carinthia in 1790.

As remarked by Ingalls in "Production and Properties of Zinc": "It is incomprehensible indeed that ten years later there should have been no knowledge in Belgium of what was being done in this branch of metallurgy in England, the two countries being separated only by a narrow strip of water, while the news had previously penetrated into the English mind."

MAKING CLOUD PICTURES.

Some Useful Hints That May Help Amateur Photographers.

Your cloud picture depends largely upon your choice of a subject. Rivers and small lakes, mountains and hills lend the best contrast, while trees in the immediate foreground come next. Wide expanses of level lands or vast stretches of water are unsatisfactory. If you desire an ocean cloud effect be sure to place a cliff or some prominent landmark in the foreground to break the monotony.

The exposure for cloud effects, made necessary by the laws of light and optics, is necessarily very rapid. Anomalous as it may seem, this does not presuppose an extra rapid lens. In fact, such a one may defeat the very object you hope to attain. I make my cloud scenes with an ordinary rectilinear lens by preference. The exposure with an eight stop should be the maximum speed of the ordinary shutter. If the day is exceedingly brilliant the stop must be correspondingly decreased. The great danger is in over exposure, thereby dissolving your cloud.—Charles Stuart Moody in Outing Magazine

QUEENSBORO BRIDGE.

The Greatest Structure of its Kind in the World.

Measured by the combined length and capacity of its five main spans, the Queensboro bridge, across the East river from Fifty-ninth street, New York, to Ravenswood, Queens, is the greatest bridge in the world. Including approaches, its total length is 8,500 feet, width 30 feet and greatest height over 800 feet above the water. It crosses from shore to shore, 135 feet above the river, with three enormous spans of 1,182 feet, 630 feet and 984 feet, the middle one reaching across the full width of Blackwell's Island. Besides these there are two more great "anchor" spans, one at each end, wholly over dry land, with a length of 3,724 feet for the five, which together contain over 105,000,000 pounds of steel. No other spans in this country, except suspension bridges, approach the longest of these, and the only trussed span in the world which exceeds it is the Forth bridge, which, although 1,710 feet long, has a capacity for only two railroad tracks, less than one-third of this. There are two decks, the lower carrying a wide drive way and four electric car tracks and the upper one two sidewalks and two elevated railroad tracks and having in all an estimated capacity of 200,000-000 car passengers and millions of vehicles and pedestrians annually. It cost over $20,000,000.—Exchange.

STAR GAZING.

The Study of the Constellations as a Pastime.

Probably every reader has often admired the beauty of a starlight night. A little careful observation on such a night will show that the brighter stars may be divided into groups or "constellations," as the astronomers call them, most of which are known by the names of animals or legendary persons, such for example as "the Great Bear," "the Swan," "Hercules," "Orion," etc. The easiest method of learning these "constellations" is from some one already acquainted with them, but if the beginner is not fortunate enough to know any such person, the majority can be learned from any cheap star maps such as are sometimes contained in almanacs.

Now, if the budding astronomer will notice the position of any of these groups of constellations at a particular hour of any night and then look a few hours afterward he will see that during the interval the stars which appeared as a group in the east have risen to the south in a somewhat similar manner to the apparent motion of the sun and moon, while closer attention on several evenings will show a circular or rotary movement around the north pole of the heavens, the motion being the same as that of the sun.

At the north pole is a bright star called the "Pole star." This star is easily found when the observer has once found the seven bright stars of the "Great Bear." The two outer stars of the "Great Bear," the "pointer" stars, as they are called, point almost directly to the Pole star. This makes

PLAYS REAL FOOTBALL

Playing real football, and of the kind that it would take a better team than was born and reared in Waynesburg to surpass, the Charleroi High School team won from Waynesburg High School Saturday afternoon 13 to 0. Worse games might have been seen at Princeton or Harvard or Yale. Individuals who were in the performance more than up to their ears would be difficult to pick, but it is thought they all were. The Charleroi back field worked like a piece of well oiled machinery; the line the same.

It didn't take long for both teams to discover the destiny of the game. It was a Charleroi victory pure and simple from the outset. Charleroi grabbed the ball on the ten-yard line from the struggling Waynesburgers, who had received on the kickoff. Stahlman made an end run that netted several yards. Lowstutter circled the other side of the line. Speers was sent through the line on a plunge. He didn't quite make the chalk and Stahlman was given the ball to take over for the first touchdown. Capt. Campbell failed to kick goal.

From the other end of the field in the second quarter Henry Lowstutter was the valiant that carried the bulb past the chalk line. With a beasty of a run, all the while warding off tacklers he took the ball down the field 14 yards to 20 yards. Speers was entrusted with the precious bulb long enough to make a big gain through a ragged hole in the center of the line. As was eminently fitting after his brilliant work, Lowstutter was given the privilege of a try at a touchdown and made it. Stahlman made the final touchdown, after an inspiring run. Charleroi was unable to get the ball over the wire on a kick for goal, but they didn't have to. The only time Waynesburg had much chance to score was in the second half. They were finally held at the north end of the field by a stonewall defense, until it was necessary to kick. A drop was tried but it failed to go over the bar. Lineup:

Passing of the Spare Room.
Fifty years ago nearly every home in New York City had one or more spare chambers. Today half her inhabitants rise at an unusual hour to smelt their beds to be turned into storerooms for furniture or piano fortissimo. If Mary or Cousin John realized this at the time, of course, he or she would have lived in a great city like New York. But they would understand better just why they had not been invited to visit Tom's folks. It is not because Tom and his wife wish to fight Mary and her husband that they have not invited them to visit in the city, but because possibly the city cousins have not enough spare room in their tiny apartment even so much as a canary bird. In the other hand, John and his wife probably have a great twelve-room house in the country, a house whose "spare" is known to be always "letting out."—Woman's Home Companion.
